

20 MEMBER BENEFITS OF ASBA

- 1. Be inspired by The Botanical Artist, a quarterly journal packed with great images and articles.
- 2. Gain national and international exposure for your artwork: Create your own Member Gallery on ASBA's website.
- 3. Become eligible to enter ASBA international exhibitions (juried and non-juried.) Benefit from associated publicity and programming.
- 4. Enjoy association with over 1900 like-minded people who share a passion for botanical art. Connect with interest groups in online forums on the ASBA website.
- 5. Join a Chapter or Artists' Circle and participate in local and regional activities—workshops, field trips, and outreach projects.
- 6. Tap ASBA's global network. Enjoy association with over 300 international members from 40 countries who are botanical art leaders in their own countries.
- 7. Attend in-person and online ASBA Conferences. Participate in workshops, classes, forums, and lectures with master artists and experts; share experiences and network with members; participate in exhibitions open to all attendees.
- 8. Post notices of upcoming exhibitions, classes, or workshops on the ASBA website.
- 9. Include your name, background, class offerings, and contact information in ASBA's online Teacher's Directory.
- 10. Make a Difference: Apply for ASBA Artist Grants, currently valued at $3000.
- 11. Receive access to the Online Directory of Members
- 12. Participate in ASBA's unique Travel Programs.
- 13. Access information and connect on ASBA's social platforms: Instagram, Facebook private member group, Facebook public page, and ASBA's YouTube channel.
- 14. Access online tutorials, studio visits, and panel discussions with master artists.
- 15. As a collector of botanical art, get to know the artists firsthand and stay informed about news.
- 16. Share in ASBA's national stature, prestige, and international standing. List ASBA membership on your resume, at exhibitions, and on your business card.
- 17. Receive recognition and honor when selected to participate in prestigious collaborative exhibitions.
- 18. Be a part of ASBA's Ambassador Program, sharing the history and continuing tradition of botanical art, and promoting the unique ability of botanical art to impact environmental stewardship.
- 19. Through your affiliation with ASBA and support of our Code of Ethics, you become a role model for members of other botanical societies around the world. Our "do no harm to plants" policy protects rare and endangered species—and all plants—in their natural habitats.
- 20. Benefit from ASBA's association with over 40 prominent national and international institutions, all of which are ASBA Institutional Members in the forefront of the botanical world.

ASBA membership confers special respect and recognition around the world. We are an open and inclusive society. The ASBA welcomes all who appreciate contemporary botanical art and wish to further its development.